Include Some Gorgeous Dahlias In Your Flower Garden This Spring!

THERE IS NOTHING THAT WILL GIVE YOU MORE PLEASURE AND SATISFACTION THAN A FEW BEAUTIFUL

dahlias

IN YOUR GARDEN

EVERYONE WILL ADMIRE AND ENJOY THEM

Dahlia Culture

If you will follow these simple rules you should not have any trouble growing fine Dahlias. Place roots 4 to 5 inches deep and about 3 feet apart each way, in well worked soil. Keep top soil stirred, especially after each rain. Water only in very dry weather, then soak well, do not sprinkle each day. Do not plant in dense shade, as they like plenty of sunshine. After the plants are about 3 feet tall, do not stir the soil too deep, this may injure small feeder roots.

Pests

For insects that appear on the plants during growing season, use D. D. T. or dust with nicotine dust.

For bugs that feed on the blooms, spray with a mixture of one teaspoon of paris green to one gallon of water, keeping it well stirred.

Your County Agent will be glad to help you with such problems.

Storage

After killing frost, dig roots carefully, cut the tops off about 1 or 2 inches from the cluster of roots, let them dry out in the air a few hours if possible, then store in a cool, damp cellar where they will not freeze, store with the stem part down if possible, this will reduce stem rot.

If your cellar is too dry, store the roots in a box and cover with peat moss, or sand, or even dry soil. Watch them through the winter and if rot appears, cut it out and dust the roots with dry sulphur.

You can cut the roots apart any time through the winter or spring, leaving part of the stem, or neck with each division. One single root to each division is as good as several. Tops do not have to be removed immediately after frost, they can be cut off whenever you dig the roots.

Wishing you a successful Dahlia season,

CARL R. KUNZMAN.

Dahlia Tubers

All prices herein are for strong roots, grown under normal conditions and will do well anywhere dahlias can be grown at all.

Roots can be sent any time the weather is not too cold. Please send in all orders as soon as possible. We will send them whenever you wish to receive them, but be sure to mention the shipping date on your order.

Do not order from an old list, this list cancels all previous lists and prices.

All roots sent out are guaranteed to be in good growing condition and true to name.
